Arrangements for Wet Practice Days

In the event of substantial amounts of rain in the lead up to training day and with the forecast for imminent continuing rain, then it is fairly safe to consider the necessity to call your Team's Coach to get clarification of training being on or being pulled. This is a mandatory condition that all Coaches can expect their Players to adhere to.

The onus is on the player to advise their Coach of their non-attendance for training and for game days. It is very important to develop this healthy line of communication so that all players and Coaches can plan ahead for any gaps that present in the line-up, and to assist all Coaches to fulfil the duty of care towards their players.

It is most important that all minors (under 18 year olds) placed in the care of Coaches, turn up to training and advise their respective Coaches of their regular post-training pick-up arrangements. If an occurrence arises as to bring into question the immediate safety of any player awaiting collection by parent or carer - due to an irregularity in the normal pick-up arrangements - then we ask, to the best of their ability, the Coach to stay with the player until they are safely discharged. This is a huge ask of our Coaching resources, so we ask that all Players be picked up promptly after training and that suitable arrangements be made to advise Coaches of any digression from the norm.

All Coaches will, in the fullness of time, advise their players of their contact details so that communication lines can get up and remain healthy. To assist in this matter you can look forward to individual Team RSS feeds via the Digger's Quick-Messaging System.

Coaches headshots and contact details will be posted in the Teams Page shortly.

Thank you all for your co-operation.
